Ruta del Vino
Rioja Alta

www.rutasdelvinorioja.com
To speak of La Rioja Alta Wine Route is to speak of one of the most representative places in World Wine Culture. Because here, everything moves around the vineyards, the wineries and the grape musts.

Wine has always marked the pace of the territory. It is a culture. And it has been so since ancient times. The prehistoric wine presses are scattered throughout the territory are a permanent reminder.

You should also see the old cellars, dug into the ground since the Middle Ages, creating veritable underground wine cities. Today they are still used by some growers to make their wines. They are usually grouped in the winery quarters that can be found in all the towns on the Wine Route.

And the great wineries of the 19th century, with their magnificent cellars, their unique buildings and their long history and tradition. They are witnesses to one of the most important periods in the evolution of Rioja wine. The ravages caused by phylloxera forced French winemakers to look for new production areas to supply their markets. Our area was one of those chosen for the quality of the grapes and the existence of a railway to facilitate communications.

The French brought new ideas, introducing ageing techniques and giving a new dimension to Rioja wine. From that moment on, our wines attained the worldwide renown they enjoy today.

Today, new wineries with new architectural designs have joined the Rioja wine world. New winemakers and new concepts and proposals that further enrich the offer of wines from our region.

Furthermore, a visit to the old towns with their big mansions, palaces, medieval castles, medieval bridges, monumental churches with fabulous altarpieces, and monasteries offers a priceless opportunity to delve into the history of the area.
An essential visit is the Briones Wine Culture Museum, considered by many to be the best wine museum in the world. The collection ranges from traditional winemaking tools to works of art related to wine. An option that brings you closer to the culture of wine from a universal perspective.

And all immersed in a landscape dominated by grape growing. Each station offers a different way of observing the territory, although autumn is undoubtedly the most spectacular time for visiting. The countryside is dressed in a fantasy of colours sure to overwhelm you.

You cannot end your visit without enjoying the local cuisine. The pinchos or tapas are a must. In restaurants you can enjoy both traditional recipes and the proposals of a new generation of chefs. All of it paired with the great variety of wines that La Rioja Alta can offer.

Doing the La Rioja Alta Wine Route is a unique experience for all those who want to discover wine and its culture in all its grandeur. It is a journey no wine aficionado should miss.
The vineyards in La Rioja provide a spectacular view. Constantly changing with the seasons, following the symbolic pace of the vine growth cycle’s eternal rebirth.

Autumn is breathtaking, with a diversity of colours; powerful reds and intense yellows show a new facet of nature-become-art. The colours spread across a varied landscape with a myriad perspectives and a uncounted nuances.

It is an ideal time for photographers and painters, who will find an endless number of subjects for their works. It is also perfect for those who have a special sensitivity to the beauty of nature.

Winter provides a different, albeit no less beautiful, view of the land. There is a sense of bareness, with browns alternating with the white traces of snow.

When snow covers the land, it provides the opportunity of a different, almost minimalist experience of the territory. The bare vines are outlined in the snow in what look like characters in the Japanese phonetic script. Just let your imagination soar to find a beautiful and disturbing reality.

Green is the colour of spring and summer. The country awakens, full of life with shades of colour that, little by little, cover the countryside. You can discover how clusters are born, develop and mature on the road to the next vintage. Autumn again closes this eternal cycle.

You can also distinguish the profiles of the villages silhouetted against the landscape. Church towers stand out with their slender shapes, while the castles speak of ancient times, when the Ebro marked the border between the kingdoms of Castile and Navarre.

There are many places from which you can observe this landscape. A network of viewpoints in the territory offers you an excellent opportunity to enjoy it. They are easily accessible places from where to contemplate excellent panoramas and delight us with the beauty of this landscape.
MAIN VIEWPOINTS IN LA RIOJA ALTA
From Haro, take the the N-124 to the town of Briñas. Just past the bridge and after crossing kilometre post 44, you can stop at an entrance to the right and see the renowned Briñas bridge, a magnificent example of civil architecture. If you cross it and feel like walking, you can continue along the path past the river, veering left to enter the Tondonia meander for a pleasant stroll among vineyards.

Like all the towns along this route, Briñas is a town with a wealth of monuments which has managed to preserve its traditional houses and layout. The Church of La Asunción stands out in the centre of the town. You can also enjoy lovely views next to the Ebro River that flows under the town.
From there, continue along the N-232a. You will immediately see the silhouette of the castle of San Vicente, a sight that will accompany you during a good part of the route. The castle is undoubtedly a monument not to be missed in San Vicente de la Sonsierra. Recently renovated, it takes you back to the times when the Ebro marked the border between kingdoms. The church is another place to discover. It holds many gems, including the main altarpiece, a jewel of Spanish mannerism. The views are also spectacular, as the castle is one of the best viewpoints in the region. When you come down from the castle, you can tour the old town full of houses emblazoned with coats of arms.

From there, continue towards Ábalos. Halfway between the two locations you can take a moment to visit Santa María de la Piscina and its necropolis, an extraordinary Romanesque church.

Ábalos is another of the many towns that preserve its medieval layout with numerous sixteenth and seventeenth century buildings with coats of arms on the façades. The church is another magnificent example of religious architecture. Inside, take a moment to admire the main altarpiece, another incredible work of Renaissance imagery.
ROUTE 2:
HARO > OLLAURI >
BRIONES > SAN ASENSIO

Leave Haro on the N-124 towards Briones. At kilometre post 39 turn off for a few meters to visit Ollauri and its winery quarter. It is a town of great palaces and noble houses. It boasts one of the most typical winery quarters in the region.

Continue towards Briones. Your first stop is the Museum of Wine Culture, recognized by various international organizations as the best wine museum in the world. It requires an unhurried visit if you wish to admire the entire collection, which is sure to prove a pleasant surprise.
When you leave the museum, you should go up to the old town and explore its walls and streets full of local flavour. On the main square, the church of La Asunción rises with its slender tower, its monumental architectural wealth and the precious gems it holds in its interior. The town also offers superb views from the street that surrounds it, well worth the walk.

Take the N-232 in the direction of San Asensio. Before reaching the town, make sure to visit the castle of Davalillo accessible via a paved road, a left turn at kilometre point 439.2. You will have discovered the castle from afar, long before you get there. Its unmistakable profile can be seen from almost any point in the region.

In San Asensio, you can visit the old town, the church and the winery quarter. The entrance to the winery quarter, one of the largest in La Rioja, features a sculpture by Agustín Ibarrola. In the winery quarter, there are still some winegrowers who maintain their cellars and employ the most traditional winemaking systems.
ROUTE 3:
HARO > CASALARREINA > TIRGO > CUZCURRITA > SAJAZARRA

Go from Haro to Casalarreina on the LR-111. There, you find many unique buildings and the large square, Plaza de la Florida with the 16th-century monastery of La Piedad on one side, which is well worth visiting. Casalarreina also stands out for its top-quality food.
In Tirgo, do stop to contemplate its Romanesque church, one of the best preserved in the region, as well as the main square, with its emblazoned façades. Cross the river Tirón and take the paved road on the left to go to Cuzcurrita del Río Tirón. Its old town is also well worth a visit. Its excellent state of conservation and the beauty of its palaces invite you to take an unhurried stroll through its streets. The church is also of note, particularly the baroque façade, one of the most beautiful in the region. Make sure to visit the castle and washhouse next to the river.

Sajazarra is another monument-packed location, which has managed to preserve all the charms of its past. It was a fortified town and still preserves remains of its walls and an impressive castle in the very centre of the town. Also note the church of La Asunción and the arch attached to it, which was part of the town walls.
ROUTE 4:
CENICERO > URUÑUELA >
HUÉRCANOS > NAVARRETE >
FUENMAYOR

Cenicero is one of the towns in La Rioja with a great wine tradition. Here you can find hundred-year-old wineries that were born next to the train tracks, along with others that still make their wine in traditional underground cellars. The town is full of noble buildings that tell you about the town’s past.

Exiting the town onto the LR-113 towards Uruñuela amongst a sea of vineyards. The 16th-century church is well-worth seeing with its magnificent Churrigueresque altarpiece.
The LR-322 takes you to Huércanos, where you can admire the church of San Pedro and some ancestral mansions. From there, take the LR-232 to Navarrete, one of the landmarks of the French Way of St. James in La Rioja. The spirit of The Way permeates the beautiful old town rising on a hill. Make sure to visit the cemetery, formerly the San Juan de Acre pilgrims’ hospice, whose remains you can also visit. You should also drop by the Renaissance church of Santa María de la Asunción, with its outstanding baroque altarpiece. There is also a viewpoint located at the top of the town, from where you can admire the whole valley. Navarrete is famous for its pottery and there are many workshops that sell their wares.

From there, take the LR-137 to Fuenmayor. Another historic town with noble buildings and palaces from the 16th and 17th centuries. The parish church of Santa María, in late Gothic style, dates from the sixteenth century.

See the end of the brochure for a list of wineries that can be visited, accommodation and restaurants in each town. For further information, visit our website www.rutasdelvinorioja.com.
